

FATHER AND FIANCE RACE 2,000 MILES FOR RUNAWAY GIRL

PARASITIC JEWELER TOWED

Fifteen-Year-Old Daughter of Wealthy Texan Held by Jersey City Police

New York, Oct. 1.—A prospective husband and a father are racing toward Jersey City from Houston, Texas, today, each bent on claiming faithful, spiteful Norma, who gives her age unobtrusively as fifteen years.

Norma was arrested in a Jersey City grocery by detectives. She was bawling crying when the arrest was made.

At Houston pretty Norma met Paul Marx, attached to an aviation squadron stationed in Texas. They fell in love, and at length decided to marry. It was planned to meet in Jersey City. Norma, however, her jewelry started for the traveling place with $25 and while she waited she found work in the grocery store.

Her father is George L. Cole, president of a Houston bank, and deeply interested in oil properties. Telephone from both father and lover were received announcing that both are on their way here.

Frank W. Morrison of Worcester, attorney for Mr. Mann and the petitioners, declares that precedent had been found in which such proceedings were not started for nearly years.

ASKS FOR PROBE OF DRUG FORCES

Rumors That Liquor Worth a Million Dollars Has Disappeared Around Boston

Charging that he had been informed that prohibition agents had secured $1,000,000 worth of whiskey in the New England enforcement district and that no one had had out where it was, Attorney Thomas L. Hogan, in a letter to the United States Federal Court, asked for a Federal grand jury to be called by a Federal grand jury.

Attorney Hogan, appearing for Michael Anderson of Haverhill, in a writ of mandamus proceedings to require a grand jury to be called, in his letter, created a stir during the course of the attack on the new federal law.

He emphatically declared that he was willing for the grand jury to be called, but that he was not willing for the grand jury to be called.

Following the court hearing, Mr. Hogan issued a statement which read in part:

"I am and will remain for every right, quiet and action of liquor secured by agents of my force all of which have been in the hands of the law."

"I shall continue to do my duty as a citizen and as a member of the law, and I shall continue to do my duty as a citizen and as a member of the law."

MYERS IS DOOMED TO DEFEAT, SAYS A. F. L.
 Washington, Oct. 1.—Senator Myers, Democrat, signed the political death warrant when he declared against the Democratic ticket in Montana, according to a statement from the American Federation of Labor in its news bulletin. It says: "Montana non-partisans have wrecked the Democratic machine as they wrecked the Republican machine in North Dakota. Senator Myers is alarmed as he views his prospects for re-election in 1922, and while con-demanding the non-partisans he advocated the same method. Senator Myers knows that his political death warrant has already been signed, and the Copper Trust's rule in that State challenged."

HARDING 4 TO 1 CHOICE IN CAPITAL STRAW VOTE

Senator Harding is the choice of both capital and labor for the next President of the United States, according to the latest figures in the American's presidential poll, a canvass conducted at an occupational and industrial basis.

Results canvassed yesterday of labor and industry show that the Republican already carried labor is strongly in favor of the Republican.

Here is the way big business in Boston stands on the presidential question and the way it will vote.

Harding 4, Cox 1, Wilson 2 and Debs 3.

The Harding plurality over Cox, it will be seen, is four to one, or generally that accorded him by the labor vote.

Probably one of the most interesting comparisons yet published in the American poll, is that today showing the way the bankers and brokers of three big cities in the United States view this presidential election.

HARDING 3 TO 1 FAVORITE.

In Chicago the vote shows the Harding percentage is a little over 3 to 1, while in Denver it is a little over 4 to 1.

In this way the occupational poll is considered to have a great computation, and one which will give the expression of the entire nation.

Shifting from the financial group, we have today the expression of the seven-seventy Boston longshoremen and waterfront workers.

These votes were taken in a district which is strongly Democratic. It is the first time that a vote of this kind has been taken in the city since the election of 1916.

But even in this Democratic district, the vote is a close one. It is a vote of the two big parties, the Democrats, who usually poll a strong vote in some labor parties, standing along with a very low percentage.

Another group was the Master Householders, residing in the city, showing how the smaller business group views the situation.

DEATH KNEEL OF LEAGUE.

The American's financial poll about the death knell of the League of Nations, is a very strong expression of the financial world.

Great political battle ahead.

Bankers and a few of the Boston stock exchange, in a preliminary election, have published the figures of the voting at the annual meeting of the American Chamber of Commerce, which also showed an overwhelming opinion in favor of Senator Harding.

This same program is being followed in other cities where the poll is being conducted.

Summary of the balloting in the city sounds the death knell to the League of Nations.

One of the interesting features of the voting list of today is the vote of four "millionaires" in the city.

The Boston financial group for Debs. Their identity is hidden in the anonymity of the ballot box.

They were gathered up in the financial press of the city, but it is doubtful if the percentages they momentarily injected into the business voting can be relied upon to figure in on the whole side-step of this great issue with its world-wide possibilities.

The poll of the Denver Post, which is conducting a straw ballot in connection with the Boston American's poll, shows that Senator Harding is the favorite of the post-West section of the country.

Ready this poll has shown that the factory workers of Denver, Colorado, are behind Harding with a handsome plurality.

VOTE TO DISMISS FIREMAN

Somerville Aldermen Stand 11 to 7; Chief Threatens to Resign if Man Is Taken Back

After a public hearing which lasted well into the morning hours, the Somerville Aldermen, by a vote of 11 to 7, approved the dismissal of fireman John C. Newcombe of Engine 4 from the fire department.

Newcombe's contract, Attorney Albert E. Hughes, said today that he would appeal to the court for a review of the evidence.

The fireman was accused of insubordination and unbecoming conduct. He refused to wash the fire station house when so directed by Lieutenant Walter H. Young, chief of his engine.

Chief Deputy H. Rich, testifying at the hearing, said Newcombe had been one of the most fractious and inefficient of the department, but recommended his discharge on the ground of discipline.

Rich, however, declared, would mean the establishment of a form of Soviet rule in the department. The chief threatened to resign if Newcombe was restored to duty.

Frances Holden, a sixteen-year-old Roxbury girl, jumped a distance of thirty-five feet from the third floor of Keefer's Hotel, No. 333 Columbus avenue, where, she claimed, a man had made advances to her while in a room there.

The girl was discovered in the alleyway by employees of the hotel, and was sent to the City Hospital, where she was found to be suffering from minor injuries.

A shoe that doesn't give satisfaction isn't a bargain at any price.

So I brand a fair and square retail price based on net factory costs on the sole of every shoe in my store. This absolutely protects you against unfair prices and guarantees that you are getting your money's worth.

I am very proud of Emerson styles this season. The more I compare them with other lines the better pleased I am with the work of our designers.

It will pay you to come in and look over our New Fall Styles. You will find many advance models here that cannot be duplicated elsewhere.

LUNCHROOM FOR WORKERS URGED

Indorsing Drive Against High-Priced Cafes, Melrose Mayor Asks Employers to Act

Mayor Charles H. Adams of Melrose, member of the State Commission on Necessaries of Life, strongly indorses the Boston American's drive to reduce lunch prices.

"I think it's a fine idea," said Mr. Adams. "By carrying their lunch pails out much more nourishing food than they otherwise would obtain. But there are a vast number of small stores and shops where there is no room for a waiting room with the result that employees, who carry their lunches are compelled to eat at their desks or in the washrooms."

URGES FIRMS TO ACT.

"It seems to me that merchants should take the place of the restaurant and provide proper places for their clerical employees to eat. People do not like to sit at their desks eating lunch in public view. The increase in our fares has reduced the amount of money that may be had for lunch with consequent impairment of health and service when they sit at restaurants. That may be remedied by carrying their lunches from home. This measure has great possibilities. It is a great health movement."

PRICES OVER 100%.

The John Hancock Life Insurance Company is saving hundreds of dollars daily for more than 1,000 employees of the main office in Devonshire street by furnishing substantial lunch pails at ten cents each. Here is a sample lunch that an employee gets for ten cents: Fresh vegetable soup, choice of frankfort steaks with tomato salad, cold roast, beef or lamb chops in jelly, baked potatoes, choice of apple pie, sliced pineapple or lingonberry preserves; choice of tea, coffee or milk.

Fall Styles for Women
Give Fifth Ave. Thrills

By Valuable Service.

New York, Oct. 1.—A tall stretch of pearl gray suede sloping from precarious contact with the ground to another stretch of sheer, gray silk; a slender line of blue, brown, black—whatever it may be, gray again, in horizontal lines, topping the whole. This is Madame Fashion of this city and moment.

Fifth avenue had other thrills to offer the stylemaker. There were the new Louis the something collar, so high that madams must pile hair atop her head if she is to put on an.

Hand royal blue, and the short gloves and mittens, also were abundant in that store.

COX'S MAN FAILS TO SEE WILSON

Moore Vainly Tries to Patch Up Nominee's Attacks on Burleson and Palmer

By Valuable Service.

Washington, Oct. 1.—An open house between the administration and Governor Cox was indicated today when it became known that after two days of continuous effort, H. H. Moore, personal representative of the Democratic nominee, had failed to see the President.

Mr. Moore, it is known, came to Washington for the specific purpose of making amends for attacks made by Governor Cox upon Attorney-General Burleson and Postmaster-General Harlan.

It is understood that Mr. Wilson's decision not to make any address during the campaign was not reached until the quotation from Governor Cox reached his ears and that it was due more to disapproval of the general attitude of the presidential nominee than to the state of his own health.

When Attorney-General Palmer was asked to discuss the situation, he simply replied:

"I have nothing to say."

It is understood, however, that the Cox managers only hope for a series of statements such as the President's letter on the Irish question, as authorized by the President.

The Motor Car Price Situation

A Message From

J. Dallas Dort President Dort Motor Car Company

"The price of the Dort car is reasonable and fair. The total net advance in our list within a period of two years having been but 17% against advances ranging from 19% to 45% in the list of other leading makes; therefore there will be no price reduction by this company.

"There has been as yet no break in material or labor cost that would warrant any price reduction in the Dort car.

"On the contrary, materials have been purchased by us, and by all motor car manufacturers, for 1921 production, at a very considerable advance as a whole over 1920 material costs.

"Therefore, unless those purchase contracts are treated by the purchaser as scraps of paper or the seller voluntarily revises contract prices downward, there can be no justification for any motor car manufacturer to reduce prices unless he has been profiteering, which means that he has been receiving excessive profits.

"It there be such manufacturers, this is the most opportune time for them properly to adjust prices to the sound values of their product."

The present prices of current Dort models are guaranteed against reduction.

Have the Last Word, Queen Tells Wives

Note—The Queen of Rumania, who is a poet and an author of distinction, and who is called "the most charming woman in Europe," gives the following advice to wives if they would remain happily married.

By QUEEN MARI E OF RUMANIA

Paris, Oct. 1.—One—Never start a quarrel, but if one should be started in spite of you, don't give up before you have the last word.

2—Remember you are the wife of a man and not of some creature being; this will enable you to bear away with many weaknesses.

3—Don't ask your husband too often for money. This is not enough at the moment and he will not be able to give you more.

4—If you are a heartless creature, don't get into a time and remember it is he who has a stomach full of food and not you who have a full stomach.

5—Close in a while, but not too often and preferably in an important matter, let him have the last word. It will please him and will not hurt you.

BIG COLLEGE FOOTBALL TEAMS GET INTO ACTION TOMORROW

LONG LIST OF GAMES SLATED

Yale, Dartmouth, Princeton and Cornell Play First Games; Harvard Meets Maine

By CHARLES E. PARKER.
Yale, Dartmouth, Princeton, Cornell, Colgate, West Point, Annapolis and Lehigh are included in the list of colleges who inaugurate their football season tomorrow, and with Harvard, Brown, Penn State, Pennsylvania, Syracuse, Georgetown and several other equally strong football teams staging their second games on that date a well-rounded football program is offered.

Two games are on the local scene. The Harvard Main clash at the Stadium and the Tufts Boston battle at Tufts oval. But Major's victory showing against Boston University last Saturday seems to have the Tufts-Boston contest the one in which any doubt can be entertained as to the outcome. It is not doubtful exists credit to give the event strength of the team and the team is not known.

The two New England games appearing to offer the fullest interest for the price of admission are the scheduled for Providence and New Haven. In the former a Brown team, boasting two veterans of the college, will oppose the Amherst team, which is expected to be a strong team. In the latter a team which has won a championship in the last year will oppose the team which has won a championship in the last year.

Bill Fitzsimmons of Chelsea, one of our best bets in the featherweight class, will have Chick Hayes of Cambridge as an opponent in a round bout at the Casino at 6 o'clock tonight. Fitzsimmons is one of the cleanest punchers and best boxers in the ranks of the Eastern 125-134 pounders.

Hayes is an older, more experienced fighter. He has a good record and is a very strong fighter. He has a good record and is a very strong fighter.

Dartmouth to Fight to Win Easily

The comparative showing of Kempton and Marple in tomorrow's contest will be both undoubtedly will be given opportunity to display, will be watched with unusual interest. Dartmouth, despite the comparative lack of experience, is a team to be anticipated a difficult task in defeating her next game opponent, Norwich. Princeton entertains a similar feeling as regards swiftness, although the latter may prove stronger than the Tigers expect.

Yale, Cornell, Pennsylvania, West Point and Annapolis all draw easy opponents. Last year's records tell the story. Syracuse may find it a hard fight to win. The real evenness of the game, however, appears to be that in which West Virginia meets Lehigh at Morgantown. While it is not a contest of two strong teams, both are reported as powerful organizations, each confident of taking the measure of the other.

HARVARD OARSMEN REPORT NEXT WEEK

Candidates for the Harvard varsity and freshmen crews report next week. The freshmen report Monday at 4 o'clock at the Newell Boston house where they will be addressed by Bill Haines and Captain McNamee. The oarsmen for the upper class are expected to report Wednesday.

BULL TRADING IN BOSTON

Prices Move Irregularly During Morning on Local Exchange; Curb is Quiet

The Boston market was irregular at the opening and did not change in general aspects during the first hour. Trading was of fair volume but by no means broad and wholly lacking in anything calculated to inspire optimism. But few companies were traded in and as a group they had a heavy tone. Trading shares were in active and increasing volume, in some being confined to the first hour. The only stock of the day to make a fairly important move was a point at midmorning, it was in fact less than for the moment, but it was not until the afternoon that it was again in the hands of the market. The market was generally quiet, with a few shares of the day to make a fairly important move was a point at midmorning, it was in fact less than for the moment, but it was not until the afternoon that it was again in the hands of the market.

Rails Led List for Strength; Steels and Oils Up and Motors Steady

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong in New York during the morning and high-priced rails were the strong feature. They led the list for volume and made the best showing to a general sense. Oils and steels ruled a little higher, with the latter class. Motors were steady on a higher level, especially General Motors, which was up 1/2 point. The market was generally strong, with a few shares of the day to make a fairly important move was a point at midmorning, it was in fact less than for the moment, but it was not until the afternoon that it was again in the hands of the market.

3760,000,000 IN LOANS IN U. S.

Europe Borrowed Millions in This Country Since the Armistice

Washington, Oct. 1.—Foreign loans amounting to $760,000,000 have been placed in the United States since the armistice. It was shown by figures compiled at the Treasury Department that Great Britain had the first with $250,000,000. Other foreign loans were: France, $150,000,000; Belgium, $120,000,000; Italy, $100,000,000; Austria, $80,000,000; Sweden, $50,000,000; Denmark, $40,000,000; China, $30,000,000; and Holland, $20,000,000. Treasury officials have been advising the public that the country is not in a position to take on more than $200,000,000 through purchase of the bonds in open market.

LOCOMOTIVE SHIPMENTS

A large part of the business of American manufacturers of locomotives is foreign now. During the first seven months of this year they shipped 1,023 engines out of the country, valued at $12,542,842. Shipments for the year may total more than 1,700, and the total value of the business amounting to $20,000,000.

FRUIT NUT CEREAL

has passed the experimental stage. We know it is a "repeater." People who try it again and again, until Fruit Nut Cereal becomes a dietary habit. It has that delicious, haunting, "come-again" taste. Immense fortunes have been made in satisfying the American palate. Statistics show that 98 per cent. of food product consumers in the United States are successful.

The Company seeks additional capital to take care of a growth in business that cannot be met by present facilities. Additional land for factory extension has been purchased and architect's plans have been approved. Shares are offered at ONE DOLLAR (per value) each. The Company has no debt, or encumbrances. (Plant at West Somerville, Mass.) Don't miss this opportunity.

Are Stocks Headed Up or Down?

After a decline in security prices extending over a period of nearly a year, due to industrial deflation, it is of interest to know whether the downward movement has culminated, or whether the strong rally place which has recently taken place represents a bulge preparatory to a further decline.

In view of the extreme importance of this question, we have attempted to indicate the probable trend of the market over the balance of the year in an editorial appearing in our current Market Review.

This publication, which currently discusses developments in industrial, oil and mining companies, will be sent to anyone free upon request.

The American Legion Adopts Admirable Policies

The convention of the American Legion, the great national organization of our soldiers in the late war, has adopted an admirable series of resolutions.

With every one of its fundamental policies the Hearst newspapers are in hearty accord. Indeed, every one of them the Hearst newspapers have advocated earnestly in season and out of season.

The convention endorses universal military training. No better judges of the necessity of military training can be found than those who represent the American soldiers who fought in our late war and who were of them.

The sentimental pacifist who makes his pacifism an obsession does not seem to understand that the choice is not between the militarism of military training and no militarism at all. The choice is necessarily between the militarism of universal military training of citizen soldiers, who are part of the civil community always, and the militarism of professional soldiers, who are part of the civil community never. The choice is between a citizen soldiery and a great professional army.

There are two evils in the professional army, evils which have inhered in a professional army throughout history, no matter what the military tactics of the age happened to be or what the arms happened to be. The same evil persisted in the ancient armies before military discipline and before the development of military tactics. It continued on through the ancient world even after military tactics had been highly developed and great commanders equal to our own had risen. They are evils which existed in the period of the sword and javelin and catapult as well as in the period of powder and ball and cannon. Those two evils are the fact that a merely professional army is never big enough to defend the nation against a redoubtable foreign enemy and it is always big enough to destroy the liberties of the country which nourishes this viper at its breast.

On the other hand, never in the history of the world has an army drawn from all the citizens overthrown the liberties of its country. Always it has been the bulwark of free governments from dangers within and without. This is the clear lesson of history. No man can ignore it.

The alternative of universal military training is a great professional standing army. It will not suffice to protect us from any of the great nations, but it will be sufficient in the hands of a bold and unscrupulous clique to destroy our constitutional liberties at any time.

The National Convention of the American Legion has pledged itself to neutrality in labor disputes such as strikes and lockouts.

This is a most wise and necessary pledge and it is a severe criticism of those Legion Posts whose members have been improperly used for publicity purposes against the cause of the workmen in the labor disputes.

Since the armistice too many ex-servicemen, bribed either by the publicity which newspapers eagerly give them when they make some cheap statement about "Reds" during an ordinary old-fashioned labor dispute or by some other more substantial inducement, have prostituted the name and the purposes and the usefulness of the American Legion in the interest of one side of the controversy without consideration of justice.

We earnestly hope that the attitude of the Legion will be noted and observed by the posts throughout the country so that they may be partisans of neither side in these disputes.

'Tired of League Talk,' but Ready to Vote for Freedom

Senator Penrose is quoted in a magazine interview as having said that the people were "tired of all this talk about the league."

He is an experienced politician, with many sources of information. His diagnosis may be correct.

Judging from their apathy, unacquainted in twenty-five years, the people are tired of many things.

We know they are tired of idealistic rhetoric, always ending in surrender to foreign interests. They are so tired of it that they have no patience to hear talk about it. But that they are ready to VOTE for a different kind of policy at Washington the Maine election proves. Their tiredness is not a sign that they will not welcome the "solemn referendum."

For it is not true, as some minority campaigners assert, that the League of Nations issue is a bogus issue framed up to divert attention from real issues.

There can be no security for the wise solution of domestic problems, however difficult and pressing these may be, until this nation settles finally whether it is to continue free and independent, as the fathers made it, or be swung as a pawn in foreign intrigue.

Prior to 1917 our country was advancing rapidly along many lines of liberal progress. Improvement in political machinery and methods and in economic relations was the order of the day.

Our entry into the war brought all this to an abrupt halt. From a progressive democracy we were suddenly changed into one of the most complete autocracies ever known.

We came out of the war successful in the fighting, but defeated in our war aims, oppressively debt burdened and with almost a total wrecking of our internal progressive programs.

That is what came of an adventure in a foreign war in which we were misled by propaganda, and it is what would happen if we were so foolish as to be beguiled into another.

The kind of League of Nations devised at Versailles, resting as it does upon the absurd terms of an impossible peace treaty and seeking guarantee by our dollars and our sons of the whole-sale spoils grabbing of the two chief European victors, if accepted by us, could not fail to embroil us in future conflicts, the inevitable outgrowth of its rapacity.

So the citizen who is tired of talk about this league will one day be more tired if he fails to vote it out of the pathway of America's future.

Jimmy and His War Bride

Our hero, while on his campaign tour, was attacked by some strange and ferocious creatures, never before seen by human eye. He discovered them himself. He and his bride and the fourteen children had an awfully narrow escape. He is presented with a loving cup by two other eminent discoverers, after which lunch was served and an enjoyable time was had by all. Watch for the next instalment. It makes Poe, Conan Doyle and Dumas look like thirty—

More Truth Than Poetry

The Age of Reason

By S. E. KISER

HE had earned by honest effort every dollar he possessed;

He had never cheated others who were hopeless and oppressed;

Weary children never hurried or were fearful when he frowned;

And no widow's hopes were buried when his agents called around.

HE was neither fat nor eager to become a profligate;

Where he found that joy was meagre he endeavored to give cheer.

No one ever caught him scheming to increase a tenant's rent;

He was always blithely beaming, with no time for discontent.

HE would pause to listen kindly to the cripple's humble plea;

He was not inclined to grumble to elicit sympathy.

When it rained he seemed elated, when the sky was clear he smiled;

If his wife was late he waited without seeming to be wild.

NOBLE purports imbued him, he possessed a Christian's hopes;

But one day a mob pursued him, cracking whips and swinging ropes;

He had been accused of being Socialist in his thought,

And his one chance lay in fleeing—but, poor devil, he was caught!

UNCROWNED KINGS PLEASE SWELL THE CHORUS

Harding tells us that an autocrat has established himself in Washington, and Cox assures us that a senile oligarchy is running things here. Let us now stand and sing that noble song about the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Letters to the Editor

Our National Game

Editor Boston American:

The recent exposures and confessions in baseball circles is regretted by the millions of fans who read your National Game. To identify such revelations to us as "corruption" is justifiable, and to injure our National game, which has been known the world over as genuine sport and a benefit to the youth of America, is now a disastrous affair.

Now is the time for every one to wash their hands and play a game clean. More honesty today in our large and small transactions, whether they be for pleasure or business, is what we want, and such a method when adopted will give us a better baseball, Bully Good Friends and Bully Good Sport.

LEE C. KITSON, Somerville.

State's Duty

Editor Boston American:

I read in the American Mr. J. Seudner's letter about the housing problem, which is a real one, but I think it's up to the Governor of the State to lead the way and have a law passed immediately to take possession of all lands and build where necessary as quick as possible; also appoint a commission and go over the city and find out all houses closed up for sale, and houses that were a few years ago turned into carpenter shops, etc. take them over and fix them up at a very little cost and let the people have a chance to live. Instead of the Governor letting us what he will do if elected, compel him to do what is needed now.

Dominion Rule

Editor Boston American:

The proposal of Dominion Rule for Ireland is absolutely ridiculous, and the sooner America realizes this fact the better. The realties of Ireland have stirred their desire by the 80 per cent. voting for a Republic form of Government. Any further delay will only intensify the bad feelings against England here in America and in Ireland and may set aflame a worst revolution. It is time America acted for the world's sake at least. Let Ireland have her rights as she desires. AN AMERICAN CITIZEN.

Using Poland

Editor Boston American:

Your editorial in a recent issue, "League Used by Big Powers as Window Dressing" is good in that it gives the shortcomings of the League and the use of Poland as an instrument to kill the Lithuanian Government. In the Lithuanian-Polish trouble the League acted not for itself but for French interests. THOMAS SILANIS.

"A person who saves increases his self-respect. A man with a bank account, however small, is a capitalist. Opportunity knocks oftener and louder at the door of the man who has money in the bank." RAYMOND FRAZIER.

MY DEAR Raymond.

FOR TWO weeks past I'VE READ these lines. IN A street car ad. AND I assume.

YOU RUN a bank. AND, ANYWAY, ON EVERY DAY. THEY'VE SEEMED to say.

IT ISN'T their fault. THAT THEY are up there.

FOR, OF course, they know. THY THEY'RE not quite true.

AND THE very first line. CRIES OUT to me.

THAT IF it could. IT WOULD strike out "bavos."

AND IN its place. IT WOULD insert "gives."

AND THE second line. COMES WHISPERING down.

AND WANTS to know. WHERE IS the gain.

THAT A man be known. AS A "capitalist."

AND THE third line comes. AND ADMITS to me.

THAT IT'S quite untrue. AND I take them all.

OF THE street car ad.

AS A capitalist. IS ALL mixed up.

AND OPPORTUNITY. MARCHES OUT.

AND SAYS to me. THAT IT knows no law.

WITH GREATER force. ON THE rich man's door.

THAN THE knock that sounds. ON THE poor man's door.

AND THAT is the message. THAT COMES to me.

FROM THE "pied up" lines.

OF THE street car ad.

I THANK YOU.

Things in General

Pleasing England, Labor Conscription, Etc.

The London Daily Chronicle, other newspapers and Englishmen generally are praising President Wilson. This you need not be told, means, they think he has helped England. They congratulate him upon opposing "American shipping kings." They say American shipping kings wanted to drive British and other foreign ships out of American ports and substitute their own ships.

Next to a man who helps to build UP British shipping, there is nothing an Englishman admires more than a man who helps keep DOWN American shipping. Therefore, President Wilson has deserved the praise of the English, and if he likes that kind of praise, then he has the kind of praise that he likes.

What this country thinks of an administration that concentrates its energies on running errands for Europe, and that sees in British praise the only praise worth having, will be shown at the coming election. That will be an interesting election, and when it is over the administration will know more than it seems to know now as to what the people really think of it.

Germany, not allowed by the treaty of Versailles to conscript men for the army, or build up any military service, now plans a "universal work law" for every man of military age, physically fit.

This means that all men ABLE to work will be COMPELLED to work, not parading around in uniforms, saluting officers, upholding a half crazy Kaiser, but doing PRODUCTIVE work for Germany, and getting paid for the work.

If Germany carries out this program and establishes a working army, while other nations continue to spend their manhood and money on a fighting army, it will not take Germany long to come back to prosperity.

If France had really wanted to keep the Germans helplessly and permanently down, the shortest way would have been to permit, in the Versailles Peace League, the old waste of men on non-productive military work.

Dishonesty, control of winning clubs by gamblers, is declared by a Grand Jury to exist in baseball.

Nobody need be surprised, for where there is laziness, corruption always comes in. Sitting on a bench watching somebody else take exercise is naturally a lazy occupation. When thirty thousand men go to see a baseball game they lose thirty thousand chances to do something worth while, such as digging a ditch, sowing wood, or otherwise exercising their muscles. They prefer to watch others do what they cannot do, taking their exercise vicariously, as the Roman mobs that watched the gladiators took their fighting vicariously. A lazy sport breeds dishonesty. Baseball, racing, prize-fighting, all sports run merely to be watched, are demoralizing.

The suggestion that prisoners be paid fair, average wages for their work in prison shops, instead of a cent and a half a day, the price now paid in many prisons, seems almost human, and surprising in prison management. The prisoners would have charged against them the cost of their keep, the balance to be placed to their credit and paid to their families.

The real story of crime—a story of defective brains—is read in the statement that only about two prisoners out of five are mentally or physically equipped to do a full day's work.

French royalists, ladies and gentlemen, with good imaginations, say that they see the ghost of Marie Antoinette floating around the Little Trianon, where the lady used to make butter and pretend that she was a dairy maid when she got tired of pretending that she was a respectable queen.

Royals say the coming of the Queen's ghost means that a king is coming back to Versailles. A king will return to Versailles when all the Frenchmen are crazy, not before.

One King, named Louis Sixteenth, might have lived longer at Versailles if he had not been a fool.

The Journal of Heredity describes a "lawn" covered with bamboo sixty feet high.

Each year the bamboo grows to this height, growing one foot a day. That kind of a crop ought to interest makers of print paper. The French are already experimenting with it. Hitherto the difficulty in using bamboo for pulp has been the cost of cutting out the knots or joints. Instead of cutting, the French experiment station now crushes the entire bamboo in rollers.

They live longer, more wisely, in Europe.

At seventy-six the majority of Americans are dead or ready to die.

Anatole France, seventy-six years old, is about to marry Mademoiselle Le Prevost.

When De Lesseps, of the Suez Canal, was close to eighty, you might see him riding in the Bois de Boulogne, accompanied by a herd of little Shetland ponies, one of his young children, the second crop, on each pony.

The great Lechevitch married at eighty a pupil aged twenty. He was a young man, and in Europe they live to be old. Foolish eating, and hard work immediately after eating, kill Americans.

THE JOY OF WORKING FOR WHAT YOU GET

Your father did not leave you a comfortable income, as it has been necessary for you to work out your own salvation in the cold work-a-day world, but this may be a blessing rather than a handicap.

What would have made of yourself if handicap after handicap had not driven you to life after effort?

The man who has never had a desire that was not met does not get half so much real joy out of life as you do.

You have something to look forward to, and take pleasure in the contemplated experience.

You know that you do not enjoy lots of little things now when you find them too easy to get.

It is the successes you must work and earn which count.

Looking forward into the future you must acknowledge that you do not want to see everything coming your way all the time with no credit due to your own brains or brawn.

It is good to strive and grow strong with the striving.
